The Vanderbilt

AUBERGE COLLECTION

Newport's Historic Downtown Mansion

HOTEL

Inspired by the insatiable wanderlust and rebellious spirit of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, the historic downtown mansion once owned by the businessman and scion has been reinterpreted for the modern era as a lively and stylish social destination. From a secret bar tucked into a corner of the sumptuous Doris Duke-inspired parlor to the specially-commissioned series of mysterious and moody old world still lifes sprinkled throughout the foyer and lounge, the scene at The Vanderbilt is crackling with coastal curiosities and alluring eccentricities waiting to be discovered.

ACCOMMODATIONS

The Vanderbilt offers stylish, reimagined accommodations that blend Gilded Age grandeur with modern East Coast glamour. Each space is thoughtfully designed with rich textures, handsome furnishings, and artful details that nod to the mansion's storied past while embracing a fresh, contemporary spirit. From four-poster beds to sumptuous fabrics and striking coastal hues, every room invites indulgence and discovery. 33 rooms.

DINING

From the handsome Dining Room, where an intriguing menu highlights the very best of Rhode Island's bounty from land and sea, to the sun-dappled Conservatory offering a serene yet vibrant setting, the dining scene at The Vanderbilt is crackling with alluring eccentricities waiting to be explored.

LOCATION

At the heart of Newport, The Vanderbilt stands as the East Coast's most iconic mansion, surrounded by a community celebrated for its style, charm, and storied coastal heritage. A destination for discerning travelers and curious explorers alike, the city's elegant streets, historic architecture, and curated boutiques reflect an elevated, distinctly New England spirit.

1.5 hours from Boston. 3 hours from New York City.

WELLBEING

Visit The Spa at The Vanderbilt, the exclusive urban retreat offering tailored and curated treatments. Relax and restore body and soul in our exquisite treatment rooms, or enjoy the dry sauna, spa pool, and fully equipped fitness center.
